Determiners

INTRODUCTION

A determiner is a word or a group of words that specifies, identifies or quantifies a noun or a noun phrase.

Determiners, like adjectives, establish a context and give a reference to the noun.

- e.g. Read the following sentences.
  - i. Umbrella is broken.

ii. This umbrella is broken.

The difference between the two sentences is that the second sentence specifies which umbrella is the one that is broken. It specifies the noun and identifies the specific umbrella.

Thus, words like my, many, a few, his, each, which are all referred to, as determiners if they are specifying and/or quantifying the noun or noun phrase that it precedes.

TYPES OF DETERMINERS

The type of determiner used depends on the type of noun.

- Singular nouns always need a determiner.
- For plural nouns and uncountable nouns, the use of determiners is optional.

There are approximately fifty different determiners in the English language, though the most frequently used are the articles a, an and the for non-specific and specific nouns respectively.

The main types of determiners are given below:

No.	Туре	Determiners		Examples

		whose, my friend's, etc.	•	It is their prerogative to think what the tournament?

Class X: English Grammar & Writing Skills

6.	Demonstratives	this, that, these, those, whatever	•	Those ribbons look very pretty on Sayesha.
			•	I can never forget that face.
7.	Distributives	all, each, every, either, neither	•	She took away all the dresses.

			•	The opinions of other people do not matter to me.

Determiners with Countable and Uncountable Nouns:

Determiners come before nouns. They are chosen depending on whether the noun they are introducing is countable or uncountable.

- Countable singular nouns usually use these determiners: each, every, everyone, any, someone, anybody and nowhere.
- Countable plural nouns usually use these determiners: all, some, many, several, a lot of, lots of, a few, few, a great number of.
- Uncountable nouns usually take these determiners: all, some, any, much, a lot of, lots of, a little, little, a great deal of.
- e.g. i. Every Every building was painted red. [Countable Singular Noun]
  - ii. All All the buildings were painted red. [Countable Plural Noun]
  - iii. Some - I asked for some information about language courses. [Uncountable Noun]

Enrich Your Knowledge

i. 'Much' and 'many' are generally reserved for negative statements and questions:

e.g.

- How much time do we have before we need to leave?
- We don't have much money left.
- How many people have you invited?
- We weren't expecting so many people at the open-day.
- ii. The word 'any' is used to express the idea of 'no'. Either 'any' or 'no' can be used before countable plural nouns and uncountable nouns.

e.g.

e.g.

There weren't any students in the classroom.

OR

There were no students in the classroom.

iii. The word 'hardly' is placed before 'any' to express the idea of 'not many'.

• There were hardly any customers in the shop.

OR

There were not many customers in the shop.

KEY TO LEARNING

- Words that are used to specify a noun or a noun phrase are known as determiners. They determine or 'mark' nouns, often in terms of quantity and possession.
- Determiners specify, quantify and always precede the noun or noun phrase.
- Most common determiners are articles; a, an and the
- 'My', 'many', 'a few', 'his', 'each', 'which' are some other common determiners.."
- The type of determiner used depends on the type of noun. Singular nouns always need a determiner. For plural nouns and uncountable nouns, the determiner is used only if the noun needs to be specified.

Looking at him now, I could see that he was

CBSE BOARD QUESTIONS

1. (A) much

2.

Option	Error	Correction
(C)	the	a

3.

Error	Correction
all	each

Hint:

"Each" is used to refer to every individual item in a group, separately and with emphasis on the individual members. Hence, 'each' is the correct word in the sentence.

4. (C) fewer

Hint:

Words 'few' and 'much' are commonly used to describe objects and not for comparison. Hence, they are incorrect. Words 'less' and 'fewer' are used for comparison. 'Less' is used to compare quantities of uncountable objects (e.g. water) and "fewer" is used to compare quantities of countable objects (e.g. people). Hence 'fewer' is the correct option.

5.

Option No.	Error	Correction
(A)	this	these

Note: Since the statement does not specify whether the word 'data' is singular or plural, the usage of both 'this' and 'these' seems appropriate. However, generally data is considered plural hence the answer is given as (A).
